NEW ORLEANS, La.

I suffered with catarrh for many years and got so deaf that I went about my Museums, Circus and Theatre giving directions and doing business with a big ear-trumpet at the side of my head. It was very annoying to me and amusing to those who saw me. By the advice of physicians I sought the climate of the Sunny South. In six months I could see no change and was discouraged. At this time I began using Chalmer's English Catarrh Cure.
In three months I felt a new man, in six months my hearing returned. I refused to give a testimonial at once for the English Catarrh Cure, as I feared it was not permanent. But a year and more has now passed, and I can now heartily endorse Chalmer's English Catarrh Cure for the cure of catarrh and deafness.

SOME POLITICAL HISTORY.

Presidential Customs in the Selection of Cabinet Officers.

WASHINGTON, December 16th.—Three United States Senators sat around an open fireplace in the library of another Senator on Saturday night discussing politics, and the various rumors afloat respecting the formation of President-elect Harrison's Cabinet. The host suddenly walked to a book-case, took therefrom a volume bound in sheep, and said: "I wish to read you an extract from Mr. Blaine's 'Twenty Years in Congress.'" The paragraph begins on page 283 of volume one. It is as follows:

Mr. Lincoln constituted his Cabinet in a manner at least unusual, if not unprecedented. It had been the general practice of Presidents from the first organization of the Government to tender the post of Secretary of State to men considered to be the next in prominence to himself in the party to which both belonged. In the earliest history of the country the expected successor in the Executive's office was selected. This was indeed, for so long a period the uniform custom that the appointment to the State Department came to be regarded as a designation to the Presidency. In political phase this mode of reaching the coveted place was known as easy accession. By its operation Madison succeeded Jefferson, Monroe succeeded Madison, and John Quincy Adams also succeeded. After a successful application for quarter of a century the custom fell into disfavor, and, by bitter agitation, into disuse. The cause of its overthrow was by the appointment of Henry Clay to the State Department, and a baseless scandal of bargain and sale was invented to deprive Mr. Clay of "easy accession." After a few years, when National Conventions were introduced, it became the habit of the President to tender the State Department to his leading or prominent competitor for the Presidential nomination. Thus, General Harrison offered the post to Mr. Clay, who declined, and then to Mr. Webster, who accepted. President Polk appointed Buchanan, President Pierce appointed Mr. Marcy, President Buchanan appointed Mr. Cass. Following in the same line, Mr. Lincoln now invited his chief rival, Mr. Seward, to the State Department, but his courtesy did not stop here. He was generous beyond all example to his rivals. He called Samuel P. Chase to the Treasury, appointed Simon Cameron to the War Department, and made Edward Bates of Missouri, Attorney General. There were the three who, next to Mr. Seward, received the largest votes of the minority in the Convention which nominated Mr. Lincoln. The Cabinet was completed by the appointment of Gideon Wells of Connecticut as Secretary of the Navy, Caleb B. Smith of Indiana, as Secretary of the Interior, and Montgomery Blair as Postmaster-General.

"Mr. Lincoln effectually disposed of all the prominent candidates in his own party," said this Senator, laying down the book, "by giving them Cabinet positions. He was nominated for a second term with practical unanimity, his chief rival in the Cabinet, Mr. Chase, having abandoned the fight when the Ohio Legislature passed resolutions in favor of Mr. Lincoln. The members of General Grant's Cabinet were never formidable candidates for the Republican nomination. In Hayes' Administration John Sherman was an aggressive candidate. But with all the patronage of the Administration at his disposal, and a record as Secretary of the Treasury unparalleled in the financial history of the Government, he was unable to attain his ambition. Mr. Blaine, who was General Garfield's Secretary of State for the few months of the murdered President's Administration, was nominated by his party, only to meet with defeat at the polls. Bayard, who has been as regular a candidate for the nomination of the Democratic party as has Mr. Sherman in the Republican ranks, was so completely overshadowed by Cleveland that his name was not mentioned at the St. Louis Convention, although for years Mr. Bayard had discharged the duties of his office with less direct interference on the part of the Executive than has been felt by any other member of Cleveland's Cabinet. The principal candidates for the Republican nomination at the last Chicago Convention were Sherman, Blaine, Alger, Allison, Depew, McKinley, Wm. Walter Phelps, and Jesse Rusk. Harrison captured the prize. Sherman, Blaine and Alger are the most prominent of those nominated for appointment as members of Harrison's Cabinet. It would be interesting to know, in the light of Mr. Blaine's brief sketch of the failure of Cabinet officers to realize a higher political ambition, whether he thinks Lincoln was simply an astute politician in forming a Cabinet composed so largely of political rivals, or whether there is an adverse fatality that attends the aspirations of the men who, during the last fifty years, have attempted to make the Cabinet a stepping-stone to the Presidency."

Representative Morrow succeeded Monday in getting passed by the House the bill appropriating $650,000 for the purchase of a Postoffice site in San Francisco.

Intended for a Western Man.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—An Indianapolis dispatch to the Globe says: It is believed among prominent Republicans that Mr. Morton left here in a disappointed mood, having been told by Gen. Harrison that he would not appoint Platt to the position of Secretary of the Treasury. He held Mr. Morton candidly that the Secretaryship of the Treasury had already been given to Senator Allison, and that the reason for selecting a Western man was the opposition in many Eastern cities to any New York man on account of the discrimination he would likely make in favor of the merchants of New York City.

An Anti-Mormon Preacher.

OGDEN, December 17.—Considerable stir has been made in town over radical anti-Mormon Sunday-night lectures by Rev. John Wesley Hill, a new Methodist pastor. The Mormon press is vituperatively assailing him, while the Gentile press, the Salt Lake Tribune and Ogden Union, stay by him. His lectures have drawn unprecedented audiences, despite the Mormon denunciations.

Secretary Vilas Monday concurred in the decision of the Commissioner of the General Land Office and recommended that the application of certain citizens of Lake county, Or., be granted for the survey of certain lands situated on the northern extremity of Goose lake, in township 39 south, range 20 east, and townships 40 and 41 south, range 19 east.

Representative Breckinridge, of Kentucky, on Monday introduced the joint resolution reported during the last Congress by Representative Tucker, from the Committee on Judiciary, proposing an amendment to the Constitution defining polygamy, and making it unlawful within the jurisdiction of the United States or any State.

Cleveland's course, says the Bulletin, in rewarding Leon O. Bailey with the District Attorneyship of Indiana, is a piece of undignified spite and virtually a personal reflection upon General Harrison. The Republicans in the Senate will be quite justified in rejecting the nomination.

Senator Stewart, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported to the Senate Monday, with a recommendation that it pass, the bill which was referred to that committee providing for certain arms, ammunition and equipment for the militia of the State of Oregon.

General Russell A. Alger, of Michigan, positively denies the current rumor that he was the bearer of an important message from the President-elect to Blaine. General Alger said his visit had no political significance.

Otto Greenwood, a former resident of Carson, who is now employed as a reporter of the Oregonian, published at Portland, received a pair of black eyes and a smashed nose at the hands of a resident who considered himself realigned a few days ago.

The Carson Tribune says it is generally believed that Miss Wright, daughter of Dan de Quille, of Virginia City, and Mrs. Bertie Hatch, of Carson, have the inside track for the positions of Copying Clerks of the Senate.

An old musician gained his off-expressed wish recently by dying while playing on his favorite violin. Neighbors often express a wish that the young man who is learning to play a cornet would—but he never does.

It is said that several teams will soon be put on between Wells and towns in White Pine county. Most of the freight for Cherry Creek and other towns in that section is now forwarded by way of Toano.

Social Life.

The Carson Tribune correctly remarks:

The desirability of a town as a place of residence, especially for families, depends to a great extent upon the social life which pervades the community. Wherever we see a place wherein its inhabitants are brought into close social contact, where families mingle with families and the social atmosphere is pregnant with goodfellowship, there we are sure to find a happy and contented people who are not continually wishing for the time to come when they can get out of town. In such places we find something of a social nature transpiring continually. There are tea parties for the ladies and evening parties for both gentlemen and ladies, societies for the literary-inclined and musicals for those who find pleasure therein. Then there are festivals, fairs for church or benevolent purposes and dances for the young folks.

Then there is a town where each family is shut up unto itself; a cloister where the inmates are recluses and seldom venture into the world to exchange greetings of good fellowship. This secluded and exclusive atmosphere sometimes pervades an entire town, and when its inhabitants reach that state everyone declares that it is the dull and dearest town in the world, and wonder why it is so and long for the time to come when they can move into a more sociable community.

R. E. Surveyors at Work.

The Lake county, Oregon, Examiner says:

The railroad surveyors are now working this side of Joseph creek in this valley. They have surveyed two routes through Alturas. One through the north end and the other through the south end of town. Two routes have also been surveyed into Goose Lake valley. One through Pitt river canyon across the marsh and the other down Thomas creek canyon. There are over thirty men in the party, twelve having been hired in Alturas. They are evidently making more than a preliminary survey, as a wide track can be seen out in the north end of the valley about next week. The Independent says: "We understand that the railroad surveyors, after getting nearly to Goose Lake valley, found that they were working too low down and so retraced their steps to the X L ranch and started on a new grade. They are running a line along the sidehill on the west side of Pitt river, and will follow this grade into the lower end of Goose Lake Valley."

OUR ELKO LETTER.

Condition of Stock in the "Great East"—Nevada's Leading Firm—The Timber Trouble—Etc.
Elko, December 18, 1888.
EDITOR JOURNAL.—Since I wrote my last letter the state of the weather assumed a threatening attitude towards Northwestern Nevada, and finally terminated in a small snowfall on last Saturday evening covering the whole face of the country from high hill top to the valleys below, which, however, rapidly disappeared on Sunday following. Since that time the weather has been most glorious, even eclipsing the finest California weather. In a weather point of view it may be truly said that December and May have met upon common ground and have adjusted their weather differences heretofore existing. May, as usual getting away with the best of the bargain. Notwithstanding the exceedingly pleasant, phenomenal and favorable condition of the weather for all kinds of stock many of our stockmen have already commenced to do a little feeding—particularly old cows that are expected to come in early, and late weaned calves. Mr. Smyley, one of our largest holders of stock, informed me yesterday that he had commenced feeding about 250 late calves, but does not expect a general feeding as long as the present favorable condition of the weather shall continue. The major portion of his large band has been driven into Winter quarters upon the open range. Mr. Smyley is well prepared to meet the coming Winter by being well fortified with an abundance of hay, having considerable over 500 tons with a sufficient number of feeding sheds to accommodate between 500 and 600 head. Those of the band that were put upon the range were in fine condition to meet the Winter, particularly the steers, as many of them would have passed as good second-rate beef in the market. His Winter range is in better condition having more grass than heretofore. In fact, the most of his neighbors in this valley are happily prepared to meet gloomy old Winter, having learned from past experience that to be successful in stock-raising their Winter ranges should be protected during the Summer, and husbanded up for their stock during the Winter, and that all of the hay possible should be cut and cured to feed that portion of the stock that were not in condition to be wintered upon the open range. The stockmen of Eastern Nevada were never so well prepared to meet a severe Winter as they are at the present time, excepting those situated along the lower Humboldt, say from Palisade westward. In many places along the river the grass was exceedingly short, but they hardly expect a like condition to occur again unless we encounter two or three very dry Winters, from the fact that they have this Fall taken precautionary measures to prevent a short crop by erecting dams at favorable points in the river and excavating distributing ditches therefrom, so if the usual amount of water flows in the Winter good crops of grass may be anticipated thereafter. Messrs. Sparks & Tunnicliffe, whose headquarters are at Wells, Nevada, so far as their Nevada operations are concerned, are in all probability the most extensive holders of stock and land in Eastern Nevada, or perhaps, in the west. Their vast range that embraces all, or nearly so, of the northeastern portion of Elko county takes within its area Little Salmon and Rift rivers, also Grouse, Sun Goose and Trout creeks, including several other minor streams extending northward into Southern Idaho beyond the second standard, and eastward in Utah as far as Bear river, covering a territory from east to west of about 16 townships in length and from north to south about 11 townships, making an aggregate of 176 townships, or within a fraction of 338,000 acres of land. Upon this domain or range, the most of which is splendid pasture land and is well watered in all seasons of the year, there is grazing, and it is estimated by those who are well posted and being in a position to know, that the vast herds of cattle and horses that roam as free commoners over this great range number not less than from 90,000 to 100,000 head of cattle and between 7,000 and 8,000 horses. The same authority asserts that the firm branded between 18,000 and 20,000 head of calves during the past season, and their shipment of beef cattle will be equal to 13,000 or 14,000 head of steers. The greater portion of their beef is shipped East, principally to Chicago. This firm has become possessed of their immense herds and vast areas of land, including water privileges, by purchasing of several large holders their land and stock, and including among others Barney Harold's cattle and range, paying him the handsome sum of $900,000 therefor. This vast herd of stock entitles these gentlemen to be called cattle kings, if such an un-American term can be used in connection with the stock-raising business. The recent wholesale arrests at Enreka of a large number of persons and firms who have been heretofore using for fuel and charcoal purposes the scrubby nut pine on the neighboring hills, including the proceedings against Price and Peffer, of Tuscarora, made some time ago for the using of timber for milling and mining purposes, by order of the officials at Washington, is causing considerable feeling in Eastern Nevada. It is expected that when our Legislature convenes that that body will take some action in relation to this matter and place the subject before the Interior Department and Congress in its true light and inwardness, showing that the timber (if it may be so called) has little or no commercial value and is of no use except for fuel and charcoal purposes, and that if the views of the Interior Department is to prevail as the final conclusion of the Government upon this subject, it will close the mills and furnaces forever, for such a construction of the law amounts to an order of the closing down of all the mining operations in Eastern Nevada. The Act of Congress to the contrary notwithstanding, which provides in substance that miners and those engaged in mining may use timber from the public land for fuel and mining purposes. Some early action, as above indicated, should be taken in the matter by our incoming Legislature (unless the suits now pending are in the meantime withdrawn) to strengthen the hand of our delegation in Congress to have this matter properly adjusted. But what else could be expected from a hostile Democratic Administration to silver, and, in fact, all other interests of this State. Nevada must, for the time being, take her Cleveland medicine like a man, for daring to give Harrison her electoral vote by nearly 2,000 Republican majority, until after the 4th of March, when it is to be hoped, and we believe, we will receive better treatment at the hands of the new Administration.

Mrs. Mackay to Reside in London.

A letter from Paris contains the following: Mrs. John W. Mackay's daughter, the Princess Colonna, left Paris for Naples recently with her husband and babies. She and her family will spend the Winter under the sunny skies of Italy. The Colonas have been living in Paris with Mrs. Mackay in the royal dwelling on the Rue de Tilsit, which is now for sale. Mrs. Mackay has decided to make her home in England, the climate of which country her daughter can not stand. "The Queen of Bonanza," as she is called on the other side, is anxious to be near her oldest son, who has just entered the University of Oxford.

The Alta Mill.

The Enterprise says the Alta mill will start up to-day and will both amalgamate and concentrate.
The announcement that the mill was to run twenty stamps is not true. It is a 10-stamp mill, but everything is arranged to put up 10 stamps more whenever it may be deemed necessary.
Charles Derby left Tuesday evening for Salt Lake City with a lot of rich concentrates for reduction at that place. Mr. Derby will look into the Russell leaching process before returning.

Chrome Iron Ore.

The Virginia Chronicle says specimens of iron ore, found to contain a fair percentage of chromium, have recently been brought here by a prospector, who claims to have discovered a large vein of the metal about ten miles northeast of the mouth of Six-mile Canyon. If it contains the percentage of chromium claimed the discovery is important and will make the locator's fortune.

Mount Diablo Election.

At a meeting of the Mount Diablo Mine and Milling Company held in San Francisco Tuesday afternoon the following officers were appointed for the ensuing year: President, W. E. Norwood; Vice President, J. M. Shotwell; Secretary, R. W. Heath; Superintendent, W. H. Shockley; Treasurer, Bank of California.

GAMBLING LICENSES.

County Recorder Williams Asks for Information Regarding It.

The recent vote in Washoe county has caused much commotion among the gambling fraternity, and the following is the correspondence between the County Auditor and the District Attorney relative to the vexed question, which will explain itself:
OFFICE OF COUNTY RECORDER,
RENO, Dec. 6, 1888.

Pierce Evans, Esq., District Attorney Washoe county, Nevada:

SIR:—Section 1,282 (page 365) of General Statutes provides that in counties polling 1,500 votes or over, licensed games shall not be carried on on any ground floor or first story of any building.

Please give me your written opinion so that it may be filed in my office when the law takes effect in Washoe county, and what notice will be necessary to serve on those conducting games so they may remove to second stories, and when I shall commence to issue licenses restricting the carrying on of games to second stories, after receiving official notice from the Board of County Commissioners that Washoe county polled 1,500 votes and over at the last election.

Respectfully,
JOHN B. WILLIAMS, County Auditor.
OFFICE OF DISTRICT ATTORNEY,
RENO, Dec. 9, 1888.

J. B. Williams, County Recorder, Washoe county, Nevada:

DEAR SIR:—Under the Act of 1879, gaming, as the term is used in the Statute, may be carried on in a back room on the first floor of any building in any county in the State in which, at the general election next preceding the time of application for a license, less than 1,500 votes were cast. When 1,500 or more have been cast no license shall be issued to carry on any of the games specified in the Statute except upon a second floor, etc.

It is a fact, or presumed to be a fact, that at the last general election 1,500 votes were cast in Washoe county, but it is not your duty to act upon such fact until its truth is properly ascertained by a canvass of such votes, and an abstract thereof entered upon the records of the County Commissioners as required by law, and until such entry is made no action can be taken upon your part under the 1,500-vote clause of the Statute. The Commissioners are not required to give you official notice of the result of the canvass in any election.

Yours Truly,
PIERCE EVANS, Dist. Atty.

Change of Management.

The control of the Audes Mining Company changed hands at the annual meeting of stockholders in San Francisco Monday afternoon. John Landers, the insurance manager, who has been connected with the company since its organization, retired from the position of President and General Manager, and J. W. Brown, of the San Francisco Stock Board, was elected. Directors: J. W. Brown, W. S. Lyle, M. P. Hall, Walter Turnbull and M. W. Fox. M. W. Fox was elected Vice President, J. E. Hawkins, Secretary, and Butler Burris Assistant Secretary. The Superintendent of the mine has not yet been appointed.

DON'T

Let that cold of yours run on. You think it is a light thing. But it may run into catarrh. Or into pneumonia. Or consumption.
Catarrh is disgusting. Pneumonia is dangerous. Consumption is death itself.
The breathing apparatus must be kept clear of all obstructions and offensive matter. Otherwise there is trouble ahead.
All the diseases of these parts, head, nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, can be delightfully and entirely cured by the use of Boecher's German Syrup. If you don't know this already, thousands and thousands of people can tell you. They have been cured by it, and "know how it is, themselves." Bottle only 75 cents. Ask any druggist.

250 Beautiful Lots For Sale!

A RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT AND A HOME

THE MOST LOVELY PORTION OF RENO.

Facing the Truckee—The Aristocratic Riverside Avenue Driveway—Splendid Sewerage—Healthy Location and Safe From Fire.

The proprietor is now ready to receive proposals for lots in Powning's Addition. The map gives a good idea of the Tract, which is situated between the Central Pacific Railroad and the Truckee River, and commences on the west at a point three blocks distant from Virginia Street, making it the most central and convenient of any portion of the rapidly growing town of Reno. Unlike any other part of the town this Addition faces the beautiful Truckee River and Riverside Avenue is certain to become the fashionable driveway of the country. The streets are 80 feet wide, while Riverside and Keystone Avenues are intended to be 100 feet in width. All alleys are 20 feet wide. The soil is a rich gravelly loam, and susceptible of the highest state of cultivation. Being situated as it is it is more safe from fire than any other section. The regular lots are 50x140 feet. The sewerage is perfect.

Before Buying Elsewhere Parties will do Well to Look at These Lots.

RENO

Reno's geographical position is excellent. It is on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, only 154 miles from Sacramento, and 244 miles from San Francisco. It is the terminus of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad running south, and of the Nevada and California Railroad running north. It has two Flouring Mills, Planing Mills, three Nurseries, a Soap Factory, Reduction Works, and other industries. A great Woolen Mill and a Sash, Door, Blind and Box Factory, are about to be established.

Reno has the Bank of Nevada with $300,000 capital, and the First National Bank with $200,000 capital. It has two fine papers in the DAILY and WEEKLY NEVADA STATE JOURNAL and the Daily and Weekly Gazette.

Reno is the natural home of the Alfalfa, and therefore the great cattle headquarters of the State. Here are fed the prime beef for the California market. Reno potatoes are the best in the world, and she also excels in Strawberries and the small fruits. Reno Wheat took the first prize at the great New Orleans Exposition.

The State Fair is always held at Reno.

Situated in the very heart of the celebrated Truckee Meadows the future of Reno is assured. Reno is the City of Homes. There is not a house to rent in Reno. New buildings are occupied as fast as erected. Reno has advantages which no other town can equal. The climate is mild and genial in Winter, and even and healthful in Summer. There are no excessively heated or severely cold terms, and while the days may be warm in Summer the nights are deliciously cool; in Winter sleigh-riding is the exception and not the rule.

Facilities for irrigating surpass any in the State, and there is no failure of crops. Reno has Churches of all denominations, Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls, Mt. St. Mary's Academy, the State University, and splendid Public Schools.

The Reno Water Co. furnishes ample pure, cold water for all purposes. The Reno Electric Light Co.'s electric light system, already well established, is being augmented. The Reno Gas Co. supplies gas for all purposes. The streets of Reno are lighted by electricity.
